6. At its 7th meeting, on 20 January, the Committee considered the application of Congrès national des arméniens occidentaux.

7. At the same meeting, the representative of Azerbaijan posed questions on the activities of the organization, which were followed by a statement by the observer of Armenia. In his statement, the observer of Armenia highlighted non-governmental organizations important contribution to and engagement with the United Nations and regretted that two Committee members continued to exercise a selective and discriminatory approach to considering applications from civil society groups and repeatedly posed questions to the Armenian diaspora organizations. He reiterated the call for a constructive and impartial approach to considering the organization’s application.

8. The representative of Azerbaijan stated that this session was the first time his delegation posed a question to the organization and stressed that the Committee members performed their duties in an impartial manner. He appealed to observer states to follow the rules regarding their participation in the work of the Committee.
The representative of Turkey underlined that Turkey strongly supports the involvement and active participation of non-governmental organizations in the work of the United Nation and emphasized that Turkey had traditionally adopted an impartial and constructive approach in the evaluation of all applications of non-governmental organizations for consultative status. He added that regardless of the name or origin of non-governmental organizations, the only criteria Turkey followed in the review of applications was whether the organizations were in compliance with the provisions of Council resolution 1996/31. The Committee decided to defer its consideration of the application.

Freedom Now

9. At its 8 meeting, on 2 February, the Committee considered the application of the non-governmental organization Freedom Now and posed questions to the non-governmental organization. At the same meeting, the Committee agreed to keep the application opened until the final day.

10. At its 14th meeting, on 6 February, the Committee considered the application of the non-governmental organization Freedom Now for the second time.

11. The representative of Azerbaijan expressed concern about the application of the organization and stated that its website had incorrect information regarding the detention of so-called human rights activists in Azerbaijan. He added that the persons listed on the website of the organization have been arrested for committing crimes under the laws of his country. He urged the organization to respect the legal system of sovereign states and not to question their validity. He therefore requested the organization to correct all erroneous information presented on its website. The representative of the Sudan in supporting the representative of Azerbaijan asked that the organization provide a response to the request made by Azerbaijan. The representative of the United States stressed that the organization had been pending before the Committee for five years, had answered over 40 questions, was doing important human rights work, and deserved to be accredited to the Economic and Social Council and requested all members of the Committee to ask any further questions at the current session so that the Committee could take a decision on this organization at its resumed session. The Committee decided to defer its consideration of the application.

Global Network for Rights and Development (GNRD)

12. At its 8th meeting, on 2 February, the Committee considered the application of the non-governmental organization Global Network for Rights and Development (GNRD). At the same meeting, the representative of the Sudan recalled that the organization had been under review since 2011 and highlighted the excellent work of the organization, adding that it was registered in Norway, Switzerland and Belgium and cooperated fully with local authorities. He stressed that it was supported by the African Union and deserved to be recommended for consultative status with the Economic and Social Council. The representatives of China, Cuba, Islamic Republic of Iran, Mauritania and Russian Federation expressed support for the representative of the Sudan. The Committee posed questions to the non-governmental organization and agreed to keep the application opened until the final day.

13. At its 14th meeting, on 6 February, the Committee considered the application of the non-governmental organization Global Network for Rights and Development (GNRD) for the second time.

14. At the same meeting, the representative of the Sudan requested action to recommend granting the organization consultative status, under rule 59 of the rules of procedure of the Council. The representative of Greece pointed out that some members of the Committee had expressed reservations and posed questions regarding the work of the organization and that the Committee should strive to work towards consensus. The representative of the United States stated that rushing to a vote was not in line with the previous practice of the Committee and added that the organization was promulgating false information on its website about the participation of the United States in one of its events which was brought to the attention of the Committee only on that day. She stressed that her delegation had requested for additional time so that the organization could respond to all the questions that the Committee had posed to it. The representative of the Sudan did not withdraw his request, and the Chair proceeded with the vote.

15. The non-governmental organization was recommended for consultative status by a roll-call vote of 15 to 2, with 2 abstentions. All 19 members of the Committee were present and voting. The voting was as follows:

In favour:
- Azerbaijan, Burundi, China, Cuba, Guinea, India, Islamic Republic of Iran, Mauritania, Nicaragua, Pakistan, Russian Federation, South Africa, Sudan, Uruguay, Venezuela (Bolivarian Republic of).

Against:
- Israel, United States.

Abstaining:
- Greece, Turkey.

Applications closed without prejudice

16. At its 14th meeting, on 6 February, the Committee decided to close without prejudice consideration of the applications of 29 non-governmental organizations that had not responded to the Committee’s questions despite three reminders sent to the organizations (see chap. I, draft decision I (e)).

17. At its 8th meeting, on 2 February, the Committee took note of the request of withdrawal by the following non-governmental organization of its deferred application for consultative status (see chap. I, draft decision I (f)):

B. New applications for consultative status and new requests for reclassification

The Committee considered a total of 177 new applications for consultative status.
